

"Each reader, of course, encounters their own Ulysses: the one they create for themselves in the act of reading."
- Sally Rooney

"When you read a great book, you don't escape from life,
you plunge deeper into it."
- Julian Barnes

Becoming

other selves
the queer triptych

Becoming

otherselves

"Even if solitary, the reader's inner dialogue with the writer-questioning, concurring, wondering, objecting, pitying—fills the empty room under the lamplight with silent discourse and the expression of emotion." - Edmund White

"A painting is silent poetry, and poetry is painting that speaks."
- Plutarch

Cover: Jameson Berrios
Page 2: Angel Ricardo Gomez
Page 3: JD Photography
Page 4: Ohio Ridge
Page 6: Chowdry Debdut
Page 7: Aaron Burden
Page 8: Yehleen Gaffney