

Probably my one and only fatherly advice I've ever got Ironically it's not from my father

But where's the lie tho? Life is hard enough

If your works doesn't harm the others then you do what you do

Remember that most of us buried our dream just so we could eat

"..if so then whatever you do as long as you like it and it feeds you, keep doing what you do"

My uncle asked me
"are you still making coffee?"
