

how glorious it stands! the arches! the glass! I'll remember to tell my kids one day about how great St. Stephens Green used to be where there is culture there can't be life - apparently -

What could he be listening to? us?
KNEECAP? HOZIER? Nothing?

A stride in the city,
wearing his Sunday best.
The paper for light
reading,
The hat for tipping.
Each presumption from a small moment in time
he is remembered for
looking "Fly"

Each person contained
in my street photography,
each life,
has a million and one
things
going through their hands and minds
are they aware its beautiful
