

New series unlocking my New Mexico wave, channeling the spirit of the desert, the heat, the bones, and the beauty. Every line tells a story of where I'm from and what made me. The dust, the light, the silence, all of it's in the paint. This one's for the land that raised me.

This new series is me ripping all of that open and putting it on canvas. Raw. Earthy. Unapologetically New Mexico. This isn't just paint—it's my heritage, my rebellion, the desert speaking through me.

Painted with desert grit in mind, it's a reflection of my New Mexico roots and the duality of danger and beauty. The desert speaks in symbols...—it's a reminder of resilience, survival, and power hidden beneath the sand...—homage to the land I came from, where danger and beauty coexist under the same sun.

—ROSS PINO

Unlocking New Mexico series.... What a time to be alive, digging into my roots, claiming all that's meant for me. Albuquerque raised me. The desert, the grit, the symbols they're in my blood. Skulls, snakes, Zia suns, turquoise, bones, mountains...they're not decorations, they're survival codes.

ROSS
PINO

ROSSPINOB88

AR JULY 2026